the child looked forth upon the scene, such a change had taken place in the countenauce of the Queen (only just now her merry and laughing play-fellow), that she was both astenished and terrified; nor was she ever able, through long after years, to forget that imperial face This is the kind of Queen that Miss Terry has presentedand with a loveliness of presence and a purity and silvery music of speech that any Queen might cherish with most laudable pride. Perhaps, considering what the stage queen has generally been, we ought not to wonder that this ideal of majesty is not at once recognized. Mr. Irving as King Charles presents the perfection of pristocracy. There is a moment in this performance,when the King stands before the fire-place, just after his dismissal of Cromwell and Ireton,—that seems to take you into the literal presence of Charles the First, even as we know that he lived and acted. The more we reflect upon this impersonation the finer, indeed, does it seem to be, and the more beauties, of this subtle order, does It disclose. Mr. Wills's play has not provided a great situation for anybody whom it introduces; and Mr. Irving's acting is, therefore, all the more remarkable for the illuacting is, therefore, all the more remarkable for the illusion he sustains, and the effects he produces by means of personal character and thorough and admirable art. The blemishes, if anywhere, are in the elecution. "Charles L"has been acted five times, and "The Bells" only Itwice. Mathias, in our judgment, is the greater perfermance of the two: not, of course, in moral attributes, weight of character, gracious and lovely personal traits, or the fine detail of manners: but in power to deal with the passions through the imagination, and to sustain a human identity in an ideal region of terror and pathos. Here, we cannot doubt, is the field of Mr. Irving's greatness: and here he stands alone.

THEATRICAL MISCELLANY.

Mr. Daly's travelling company, led by Mr. Richard Dormey, as agent, occupies the Mount Morris Theatre, this week and plays "7-20-8."

Mme. Ellmenreich, the German actress who lately appeared in London as Mary Stuart, speaking in English, met with failure.

It cost $1,300 a night to present "Fedora" at Drury Lane. The receipts were large, but they never caught up with the expenses, and so the piece was with-drawn after sixty nights.

Miss Marie Prescott will present herself at the Twenty-third Street Theatre to-night in a play called "Belmont's Bride." Mr. Harkins has withdrawn his Richelieu from the public gaze, and Mr. Eaves, ap-parently, has not got his Richelieu ready.

The merry comedy of "Dollars and Sense" still bolds the boards at Daly's Theatre and draws large ses nightly. Mr. Daly has a number of other plays in paration, among which are several old favorites.

MINNIE CONWAY'S SUCCESSOR.

By the sudden defection of Miss Minnie Conway, or Mrs. Osmond Tearle, the managers of the Union Square Theatre were left in the lurch. For several weeks they had been rehearsing Buchanan's new play "Storm-Beaten," and the leading feminine part was thus left unfilled and a few weeks only remained in which to supply the vacancy. The reasons for Miss Conway's sudden de-termination to resign a position in which she was winning Shook growls ominously whenever the subject is mentioned, and declares that it is a mere business matter concerning only the principals. For the last week there has been a good deal of negotiation and telegraphing to various parts of the country going on at the Union Square Theatre. Proposals have been made to several Square Theatre. Proposals have been made to several persons, and proposals from a great many more have been received and considered, so that yesterday it was with a feeling of relief that all interested heard the announcement of Miss Effle Elisler's engagement to play the part in "Storm-Beaten."

Miss Elisler, since the beginning of the season, has been starring the provinces in a new play by A. C. Guuter, enstitled "Courage," She arrived in this city carly yesterday morning to fill her engagement, and she will begin this evening at McKee Rankin's Third Avenue Theatre, Miss Elisler is an old New-York favorite, and her engagement by Messrs, Shook and Collier is considered a judicious move.

SUBMITTING TO A POETIC INFLUENCE.

A small audience gathered in Chickering Hall last evening to listen to Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, who believes herself to be governed by spirits, one of which on Sunday nights takes possession of her and delivers a ceture. The spirit on duty last night was evidently that of the graduate of a young ladies' seminary, and she treated the audience to her graduating essay that, when it was first read, undoubtedly took a prize. The subject was "A Mossage from Beyond the Gates." When the "message" had been delivered Mrs. Richmond announced that she would put herself under the "poetle influence that she would put herself under the "poetle influence" and recite an impromptu poem on any subject given her by the audience. "When does life begin I" was given as as a subject. Mrs. Richardson passed her hands over her eyes and shuddered slightly. Those in the audience with poetle sensibilities also shuddered. The "poetle influence "got to work in a rather twitchy manner, like the Bridge cars getting in motion. When once started, however, it ratiled on glibly enough for about ten minutes, and evolved several distinct rhymps. Wheever the "poetle influence" was, it was felt to be a blessed thing hat he died before publishing any of his poems.

DEATH OF PETER D. COLLINS.

Peter D. Collins died at his home No. 142 West Twenty-third-st., yesterday. He has been sinking for a year, and his death was not unexpected. Mr. Collins was born at Chester, Penn., in 1801, and his parents being poor he was compelled to work on his father's farm from an early age till he became twentyone. He had little schooling, but, being of studious habits, his odd moments were used to advantage in acquiring a common education. At the age of twenty one he went to Philadelphia and secured employment in a snuff mill, where he remained two years, coming in 1823 to this city and starting in business for himself 1823 to this city and starting in business for himself as a dealer in leaf tobacco. This business he continued till his death. He was president of the Mrs. G. R. Miller Tobacco Manufacturing Company, of No. 97 Columbiast., a director in the Marine Bank thirty years, and also in the Astor. New World and Irving fire insurance companies. In 1844 he was nominated by the American, or Know-Nothing, party for Mayor, but he declined in favor of James Harper and rendered valuable assistance in securing his election. He was prominent in church matters, being for many years a warden in Christ Church. At the time of his death he was connected with Zion Protestant Episcopal Church, Dr. Tiffany pastor. Mr. Collins was a plain man, simple in his habits and in general disposition closely resembling Peter Cooper. He attributed his great age and good health to frugal diet and regular habits. He leaves a son and four daughters, pis wife having died twelve years ago. The funcral services will be held at No. 142 West Twenty-third-st., on Wednesday at 2 p.m.

MUSIC AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The chapel of Trinity Parish is in Varick-st., near Laight-a region now altogether given over to the freighting interests of the New-York Central Railroad and a crush of laboring population. But one of the most effective choirs in New York, consisting of men and boys, render the musical services, under the direction of George P. Le Jeune, the organist. Three years ago Mr. Le Jeune in conjunction with the Rev. Dr. Weston, the popular minister in charge, inaugurated a series of musical or Vesper services to be given on the first Sunday evening of each month, beginning with November. The first of them was given last night. The whole church is free to the public on this occasion, and there is no sermon. The fine choir of the chapel is reinforced at these services by the choir of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, of which Mr. Le Jeune is also musical director. The programmes em-body music of the highest excellence, and are printed in pamphlet form for reference. The anthem, which takes he place of the sermon, is some elaborate cantata, and only composers of the first reputation are represented. For two years these occasions have aroused much enthu-isam, and the spacious chapel has been crowded by a discriminating and delighted congregation.

ISSUES AND CANDIDATES.

CLOSING THE CANVASS IN BROOKLYN.

THE METHODS OF MAYOR LOW AND MR. HENDRIX-CONFIDENCE IN THE FORMER'S ELECTION. The Brooklyn voter who has not yet made up his mind as to how he will east his ballot can hardly be waiting for more information on the issues before the ople of that city. The 106,000 registered voters, in the fortulght since the opposing candidates for the Mayoralty entered the lists, have been overwhelmed and overloaded with public discussion of all points at issue. Public meetings, the newspapers of two cities, and campaign locuments of every shape, size and quantity, have spread abroad information. Over 100 public assemblages, ranging from the mass meetings for which the Academy of Music proved entirely too small to the throng in a wigwam in an outer ward, have been held, in about equal number by each party. Mayor Low and his opponent have spoken dozens of times each and all who desired have been able to compare the merits of the caudidates. To-merrow the voters will speak, and the ballets will sound the victory or the defeat of the best attempt at self-government by a city ever known in American history. The result of the Brook lyn election is of far-reaching interest and every city in the land, is watching to see if she will prove us true to Mayor Low as he has been to her.

A survey of the field after the discussion is done, show no grounds for wavering in the belief that Mayor Low will e re-elected. He has stood upon his record, in which there is nothing to be ashamed of, no act to be apologized for, but every act to be proud of. With admirable terseness and so clearly that all could understand him, in his public addresses he has set forth the facts of his administration since January, 1882. His opponents have been unable to point to no unfulfilled promise, and their efforts to distort the plain facts for partisan purposes have proven boomerangs which have returned and hit hose who hurled them. A brighter record than that of Mayor Low no public officer ever had to point to, and that rightness reflects the glory of Brooklyn.

CANDIDATE HENDRIX'S METHODS. In contrast with the methods of Mayor Low in this campaign, those of his opponent, Hendrix, have savored of the most extreme partisanship. From the moment be announced that the Mayoralty contest in Brooklyn this year was only the beginning of the effort to carry New-York for a Democratic candidate for President next fall till now he has appealed to party prejudice and the baser passions of his audiences, especially at meetings where there were no reporters except himself present. He has made the only appeal he could to intelligent voters by borrowing the plumage of Mayor Low, and endeavoring to pass off as his own the policy of the latter. All that he has promised in the way of good government Mayor Low has performed, and all the desperate efforts to attack any of the Mayor's performances have resulted in defeat. The cry of "rapid transit" has been raised in parts of the city where rapid frunsit is most desired, but Mayor Low has done all any new laurels are still somewhat of a mystery. Sheridan executive officer could do to further plans for the best interests of the city as a whole, and his work in hasten ing the completion of the Bridge has done more indirectly to promote the rapid transit which waited that event than than any other effort that could be put forth. The Mayor has not stood in the way of any of the transit scheme now pending, but the Democratic Common Council is still considering them. The matter of a public market has received his hearty approval. He has refuted all the attempts to show that the increased tax levy was caused by him, and the increased school accommodations pro-vided by his efforts are among the best arguments for his renewed support.

The attempt to rouse personal hostility to Mayor Low by reviving his action to Chief Engineer Rocoling in en deavoring to secure the completion of the Bridge has fallen flat with all who understand the matter, and the Mayor's held explanation on Saturday night cuables ever) one to understand it. The fact that the one to understand it. The fact that the majority of the Bridge trustees are doing all in their power in opposition to Mayor Low's re-election, and supplying money for the campaign is proof of how much be interfered with their schemes by his successful efforts is secure the hastening of the work they had allowed to be

AN ESPECIALLY OBJECTIONABLE PARTISAN. that he bud any qualifications for the place, save that he stuffing in the past. that be had any qualifications for the place, save that he could be used as a tool by the designing men who seek to regain the place in pulsible affairs in Brooklyn from which an indignant public sentonent ousted them. He has taken pains to reiterate in the canvass that he did not crawl for the nonafnation, but the convention which gave it to film was controlled by "Boss" McLaughlin, and could not have named a man who was not expected to do the "boss's" bridging. The "forbidden and abhorrent forces "which have been brought to the support of Hendrit would not work so heartly for him if the return of the "oboss's" bothing. The polysic of the county of the county in which have been brought to the support of Hendrit would not work so heartly for him if the return of the "oboss's" bothing. The bound of the county in the county of the county in which he recties the causes not assured. No some has been left informed to secure every possible Democratic vote for the party nomines. It behooves every good citizen of Brooklyn to be carly at the noils to morrow and to east his vote for Mayor Low, the the "boss's" bridging. The "forbulden and abhorrent forces "which have been brought to the support of Hendrix would not work so hearthy for him if the return of the "old gang" to power in the event of his chevion was not assured. No stone has been left unturned to secure every possible Democratic vote for the party nominee. It behaves every good citizen of Brooklyn to be early at the polls to morrow and to east his vote for Mayor Low, the candidate of citizens of both parties who will carry non-partisanship into every act in his new administration ashe has done in the present one. His election is assured if the "silent vote," which no party controls, is only brought out to-morrow.

A larger vote than has ever been east in Brooklyn is expected to be given, and it will probably number over 100,000. Mayor Low should receive 55,000, and Brooklyn will then remain in the forefront of the municipalities of the land. A number of leading Republicans, with the best interests of Breeklyn at heart have promised that in the event of Mayor Low's relection by non-partisan votes this year, they will support a non-partisan benoes that for Mayor two years hence as hearthy as they now do Mayor Low. So manifestly full a proposition can not fall to commend itself to many Democrats. It is only another step forward in the effort to raise numicipal government out of the mire of party politics and to put the best men in the best places.

EXCELLENT CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMEN-AT-LARGE.

EXCELLENT CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMEN-AT-LABOR.

In the same line of non-partisanship the Republican ticket for Aldermen at Large, to be voted for in Brooklyn to-morrow, bears the names of three public spirited Demoerats together with those of four Republicans of equally high character, and it should receive the hearty support of all who desire that the city shall be well governed. It is only second to electing a good Mayor, to support his policy by Aldermen a majority of whom, at least, will be in sympathy with him. By the law under which Brooklyn this year cleets a new Board of Aldermen for the first time to serve without pay, seven are elected by the city as a whole, and the remaining twelve by districts. As the districts are constituted the Democrats are pretty As the districts are constituted the Democrats are pretty sure to elect eight and the Republicans four. If, then, the Republican ticket for Aldermen-at-Large wins, there will still be eleven, or a majority, of Democrats in the Board; but the majority will be in sympathy with Mayor Lew's non-partisan policy. But if the Democrats elect their ticket for Aldermen-at-Large there will be fifteen Democrats, or a two thirds majority, in opposition to Mayor Low. In the voting for Judges in Brooklyn there is no dispute that Jesse Johnson is better fitted to be Judge of Supreme Court than Willard Bartlett, from the affiliations of the latter and the way in which his nomination was secured. As there are airceasy five Democratic Judges on the bench in the Hd Judicial District and no Republical, another reason is presented for Mr. Johnson's election. For County Judge in Kings County, Judge Moore is assured of the united support of both parties.

The reasons adduced against the "Boss's" candidate for Mayor of Brooklyn held with equal force against the Democrate nonliness on the county ticket, including James Reigway, John B. Meyenborg, Daniel Lake, Coroner Doyle and Dr. Ford. They represent no finic but the old "Ring" methods and interests. No self-respecting man can afford to vote for a man for District Attorney known to be hand in glove with all the criminals in the county, as is Ridgway, and for whose election every third and desperate character in the county is working. The election of the Republican ticket, containing the names of true and tried men in the public service, each of whom stands on his record, is nearly certain, and their success means ferror to evil-deers in Brooklyn.

The polis will be open to morrow from surrise to sunset. Preparations have been made to preserve the peace, and only the men who engage in the regular work of watching the polis will be allowed around them, so that no veters can full to reach the ballut-boxes readily. sure to elect eight and the Republicans four. If, then, the

MAYOR LOW'S ACTS COMMENDED.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: Noticing in the issue of yesterday's Sun an article attacking Mayor Low of Brooklyn for his action regarding the resignation of Colonel W. A. Roebling, chief engineer of the New-York and Brooklyn Bridge, permit me to state in reference to the same, through the columns of your valuable paper, that from my view of the case it was necessary for Mayor Low. as one of the members of the Board from Brooklyn, to take the most stringent measures to force the Board and engineers to complete the Bridge. The Board and engineers to kept "fooling" the public of both cities with processes of the "early completion of the Bridge," etc., ever since 1879, and it would not have been brought to its present state had it not been for Mayor Low's fearless action.

It would have been best, both to the success and interest of the Bridge, if he had the power to change the whole Board, which he would undoubtedly have done, had he had a Controller and Auditor to join him. The reorganization of the Board would have been as beneficial reorganization of the Board would have been as beneficial as it has been in the Board of Education. There the work was begun by myself by the appointment of fifteen new members to replace the lifteen whose terms expired; and this action was followed by Mayor Low.

The cities of New-York and Brooklyn are indebted to, and should thank, Mayor Low for his energetic actions to have the Bridge so far completed; and Brooklyn will but justify herself by electing Mayor Low to the office which he has so successfully and satisfactorily held for two years past, for a second term, in order to have him again in the Bridge Board—a matter of great importance to all taxpayers and citizens. Respectfully, W. G. Steinmetz, Ex-Controller of Brooklyn.

WORKINGMEN IN POLITICS.

George K. Lloyd presided over the regular meeting of the Central Labor Union at Odd Fellows Hall yesterday afternoon. Messrs. Woytisek, Miller and Malone took the oath to make no trades with other parties, and to regard themselves as representatives of the Central Labor Union in case they are elected. Walter P. Shannon, the nominee in the X1Xth Assembly District who has been taken up by the County Democracy, failed to appear and he was repudiated by the union. Resolutions were passed condemning the action of the Amalgamated Trade and Labor Unions in recommending the election of George F. Roesch, the Tammany nominee for Assembly in the Xth District. P. J. Gallagher. of the Laborers' Union, made a strong speech against John Reilly, the Democratic candidate for Register, on account of his treatment of a petition or laborers for an advance in pay in

The Executive Committee of the Workingmen's State Assembly met yesterday at No. 10 Stanton-st. They issued an address to workingmen recommending them not to vote until after 2 o'clock so that they could vote against any party which did not run out the ballots in favor of the Contract Convict Labor Amendment. Messes. Nelson and Keyes, candidates respectively for the Senate and the Assembly in the Westchester disrict, were denounced as enemies to labor and unworthy the support of laboring men. The Independent Labor Party of this city has recommended workingmen to vote for Ira Davenport for Con troller, and Leslie W. Russell for Attorney-General, or the following grounds:

the following grounds:

"Honest and faithful service in the true spirit of Civil Service Reform entitles them to our indoracment, as well as their mombation on a piatform pledged to the protection of American labor and the revival of American shipping. We especially indorse iral Davenport for his conselections collection of the taxes due the State and his collection (for the first time in the history of the State) of the taxes due the State by corporations. His opponent, Mr. Chapin, is on the other hand a railroad lawyer, whose past zent in the service of the Long Island Railroad Company warrants the belief that if elected he will guard the interests of his clients and associates to the deriment of the interests of his clients and associates to the deriment of the interests of the people, which fact alone, if called to the attention of all auti-monopolists should be a bur to his election. He also opposed the bill giving to municipal laborers in the cities of New-York and Brooklyn $2.5r a day's labor of ten hours."

IRVING HALL ON " DEALS,"

The Irving Hall Executive Committee met resterday at headquarters, ex-sherif Bowe presiding It was resolved that the headquarters in Irving Hall be opened on election wight, and communication with Police Headquarters be established by telephone, over which election returns will be received. Speakers will also be provided. The chairman announced that the ballots would begiven out this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The various dis-tricts were then called in their numerical order, and the discisswere then called in their numerical order, and the leaders reported the prospect on election day. Almost without exception they declared that there would be a considerable cutting of Mr. Maynard, the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, by the browers and drinking shop keepers. When maked as to the county ticket, all said that it would be worked straigh but there was some defeation by as to the county licket, all said that it would be worked stratight, but there was some defection in favor of James O'Brien for Begtster. When this was known the suspected persons would not be allowed to handle the ballots or work for the organization.

Excise Commissioner Hangitien and it would be a disgrace to the organization if any "deal" were made with O'Brien. It was the day of the organization is support loyally the entire county theket. Thomas J. Creamer regretted that the temperance issue had been raised by the brewers. It would read disastrously on them in the future. They would find out that they had made a serious mistake.

THE PROSPECTS OF DOWNING AND PETRY.

The canvass in Long Island City, which closed practically on Saturday night, has been most ex-citing. The State, county and Semifortal nominations are lost sight of in the contest for local offices. The Long Island Railroad and the Standard Oil Company employes have been instructed to vote for Mr. Petry for Mayor The Democratic General Committee of Long Island City has offered a reward of $100 for "information that will lead to the arrest of any person or persons who may The hopes of these who expected that when the Demo-trats selected a carabhate a man of ability would be directly influence their employes into voting chosen, who would represent something other than the worst methods of ring politics, with which Brooklyn has employ Pinkerton's men to watch repeaters, and to also employ Pinkerton's men to watch repeaters, and to also been so much cursed in the past, were sadiy disappointed. watch the canvassing of the votes on election night, as In the man selected to carry, the Democratic confaion no one has been able to discover since he was nominated Petry, and some of them have been indicted for ballot-bar the inspectors and poll clerks are all appointed by Mr.

NOTES OF THE CANUASS,

Anthony Allaire, who was for several years in the Department of Charities and Correction, officially connected with Jacob Hees, has published a circular in which he urges the election of Mr. Hess for the position of City Register. He pays a feeling fribute to the execu-tive ability and honesty which have always characterized his acts as a public servant. Patrick H. Guilfoyle is the Republican candidate for the Assembly in the IVth District. With four Demogratic candidates in the field there is a fair chance

Frederick Eayrs, a well-known business man is the Republican candidate for Assembly in the XVIIIh District. With the Democratic vote divided between Peter F. Murray and F. B. Spinola, the Republicans feel that Mr. Eayrs's chances of winning are good.

Work at the headquarters of the Republican State Committee is practically closed. Secretaries Vroc mann and Johnson yesterday received intelligence from various parts of the State predicting considerable gains in members of the Legislature and the old time majorities for the State. The defection from Mr. Maynard, the Dem-ocratic candidate for Secretary of State. Is widespread, and his defeat is confidently predicted.

Secretary Folger reached the city yesterday leaves for Geneva to-day in order to east his vote on Tuesday.

THE SUN'S OPINION OF LEON ABBETT.

Trenton Correspondence New York Sun, March, 1870.

For the past three days Trenton has been like bediam let loose. A more thoroughly demoralized gang of malefactors has nover been let free. So degraved are the political leeches who have filled the town that it has become a fervent prayer of the respectable portion of the community that the time will soon come when the Legislature will adjourn and the members with their strikers and cutthouts, will return to their dons of integration of the community of the community of the control of the respectable portion of the community of the community that the time will soon come when the Legislature will adjourn and the members with their strikers and cutthouts, will return to their dons of integration of ruffians and outcasts that ever undertook to do the scannierly work of the lobby. Talk of the New York Legislature and their thieving lobbyists! They are princes compared with the political scum which befords the streets of free-ton. A visit to the State Hotel, the American or te Kays of an evening, will show the enrious traveller such a spectacle as he never beheld. Hudson County probably has the largest delegation in town. Abbett seems to be the flon of the day, being the champion advocate of the omnipotent Camden and Amboy Company. His room is every night the resort of the conspirators who are interested in the various schemes for the robbery of the people. Wine flows like water in his gorgoous apartments, and until long after midnight revel runs at its highest tide. And whethever the question, "What is to be done!" is asked among the knowing ones, the reply is, "See Abbett and you are all right, and the fact is that you must see him, or it is all day with you."

GENEALOGY OF DISEASE .- A London doctor writes an article for The Standard on the genealogy of disease, especially as related to intermarriage, in which be asserts that if caneer and consumption wed, there is searcely a hope of the offspring's escape from early death, or lifelong misery from caneer, lupus, consumption tuberculosis of the brain, spilepsy, diabetes from nervous injury, or some variation or combination of all three and that the intermarriage of rheumatism and consumption is productive of hydrocephains and diseases of the bony framework of the body, such as the hip-joint disease common among weakly children. Consanguinity, therebony transework of the body, attends the appoint essence so common among weakly children. Consanguinity: there-fore, viewed in this relation, is to be regarded as intensi-tying the fisis of transmitting certain maindies, such as those above referred to—this, however, only because there is a chance of near relatives, such as cousins, being tainted with the same family trouble.
